1063 holds protest rally

American Steel Foundries lockout enters 28th day

By Michael Heil
Staff writer

A little more than a handful of members from Local 1063 held a rally Wednesday morning near the main entrance of American Steel Foundries to protest the 28-day lockout and the company's lack of concern for its employees.

"We've taken them from No. 4 to No. 1," said Terry Shrum, who has worked in the small parts division for three years. "We would like to be fairly compensated for that, especially after taking concessions after concessions."

Trenton Wellmaker, who has worked at the plant for almost six years, echoed Shrum's comments. "They promised we would receive regular pay scale wages, but they've been promising us a lot of things. We don't have any sick days or personal days. When you call off, you're reprimanded if you don't have a doctor's excuse."

Sharon Mize, a worker who organized the rally, said company officials told the union in 1990 that its members would eventually be compensated for concessions the union agreed to when the plant became operational.

Drivers reported using no truck zone

Resident angered at illegal use of road

By Michael Heil
Staff writer

At least one person living along West Pontoon Road is angered over the constant flow of trucks zipping along an area of road that is not a truck zone.

"The trucks keep flying by even though the sidewalks are so close to the street. It's a hazard when kids walk home from school," said Charles Stimac, who voiced his concern over the matter at the Granite City Council

"There's nothing stopping them for doing what they want to do, including the police department," Stimac said.

Three group members charged with mob action

'Lynch Mob' attempts to crash yet another party was killed during a similar incident. This time, however, no one was killed or injured. Saturday's incident, which occurred about 11:45 p.m. in the 2500 block of Northbridge Court, led to charges against three mob members.

Joshua E. Stafford, 18, of the 8500 block of Old Alton Road, Granite City, was charged with felony and misdemeanor mob action and misdemeanor battery, disorderly conduct and criminal trespass.

Keep your little boos and ghouls safe this Halloween weekend

Take precautions and keep the nightmares away

With Halloween only a few days away, parents are urged to not allow their little ghosts and goblins go out searching for goodies without a few safety precautions.

When preparing for the Halloween, parents should remember to attach their address and phone number to their child's costume. Parents should tell them to only visit houses in familiar areas and never enter a house without an adult. Most importantly, children should be advised to bring their goodies home first before eating them for their parents to check first. On Halloween, a child's fun is cut short because of injuries during the course of the evening. The majority of injuries are caused by falls, contact with motor vehicles, burns and collected treats. Madison County SAFE KIDS recommends that every parent and child know some key safety tips.

At night, children may find it hard to walk safely with blindfold masks and cumbersome costumes. Some of the following tips may prevent fall-related injuries. Face paint should be applied directly to the child's face. If the costume has a mask, parents should make sure it is secured and eyeholes large enough for full vision. Trick-or-treaters should have flashlights.

Parents need to teach children not to cut across yards. Tell children to stay on the sidewalk at all times.

Children are often excited about trying to visit as many houses as possible and they may often dart between parked and on-coming cars.

Madison County offers even more important tips before the children leave the house.

Parents should decorate costumes and goodie bags with retro-reflective tape to help motorists see the children, or use costumes that are bright enough to make them more visible at night. Children should be reminded to walk, not run.

Patrick Quinn has a passel of new legislative ideas

By Anthony Mann

Coming soon to a location near you: Patrick Quinn. Yes, the gadfly political activist is back traveling the state, promoting yet another idea he says will improve democracy and make the world a better place.

If implemented, which is highly uncertain, Quinn's ideas could radically change Illinois government. Two of three would add powerful new elected positions to the state and the third would import one of the least attractive elements of California politics. The ideas:

Adding a super member to each chamber of the Legislature. The super member would have wide-ranging subpoena powers and would have the authority to order the House and Senate to vote on whatever idea he or she likes regardless of whether it is ready. Investing subpoena power in one person would create a class of politicians free to compel people to appear at whim and to bring any and all of their records.

An elected Illinois Commerce Commission. The idea might sound good to some. The inevitable result would be campaigns that feature candidates on one side who receive mountains of campaign contributions from the utility industry and on the other side who act as shameless demagogues promising cheap electricity.

Currently, members of the panel that oversees utilities are appointed. They act like a court in considering evidence and have expertise in such areas as utility law, economics and government regulation. The ability to tell the House and Senate what legislation to vote on if people sign a petition.

The petition could even be signed via the Internet, not a medium with a strong reputation for security and accuracy. Not only that, but there would be signed 30 days to determine the validity of the supposed petition signatures.

Making law by petition drives opens the door to the kind of chaos experienced by California voters who consistently must wade through a bewildering array of propositions on the ballot. In California, paid petition passers from special interest groups often get misleading or self-serving propositions on the ballot, and the result is often bad law determined by who spent the most money on television advertising.

Quinn, naturally puts a positive spin on the proposals, asserting they are a way to make government work better for average folks.

PROSPECTS

Quinn says his objective is to get the proposals on the ballot in the fall of 2000. Assuming he can gather all the necessary petition signatures, it is unclear if so many proposed amendments could all be placed on the ballot.

Also, state allows only narrow questions to be put on the ballot by petition drive. To get a proposed constitutional amendment on the ballot, it must affect the structure and procedure of the Legislature. Asked about this requirement, Quinn has the thinnest of reeds on which to base his case: the Legislature makes law governing utilities, and Quinn said that would be sufficient for his idea to pass muster. We'll see what the Illinois Supreme Court thinks.

THE Q FACTOR

Quinn himself adds an interesting element.

He has a knack for coming up with ideas that seem to have populist appeal, generating publicity for his ideas (and himself), and sometimes succeeding. This was especially true in the early 1980s, when he spearheaded the effort that resulted in reducing the size of the Illinois House.

He has been less successful recently. Though he managed to get elected to two offices (Cook County Board of Tax Appeals and one term as state treasurer), his more recent petition drives have been flops and his two most recent attempts to win statewide office (secretary of state and lieutenant governor) were repudiated by the voters.

Still, Quinn is like the pink bunny in the battery company commercials or the watch that keeps on ticking.

He comes back again and again.

IDEA's time for school has arrived

By U.S. Sen. Kit Bond

As our children went back to school this fall, concerns about their safety were at the fore. Twenty years ago, discussions over whether to require metal detectors or armed guards at school would have seemed absurd. Now they are commonplace. This is an unnerving development and seems unnatural. We should be discussing the skills our children are gaining at school, not whether or not they will be subject to violent behavior in the classroom.

Violence in schools is an unfortunate fact of life, but there are things we can do about it.

Parents, naturally, must bear the primary responsibility for the behavior of their minor children.

That said, we need to make sure that federal laws don't make it impossible for school officials to administer discipline.

As I have traveled, teachers have told me time and again that they know who the problem kids are, but laws like the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act tie their hands. IDEA makes it difficult for school administrators to remove violent and disruptive children from the classroom. For instance, prior to changes made two years ago, the law prohibited schools receiving IDEA federal assistance from removing a behavior-disordered child from the classroom for more than 10 days, even if he or she became violent, committed a crime, or threatened other children.

The goal of IDEA is to preserve the rights of students with disabilities, and through this legislation tremendous improvements have been made in the lives of millions of children with disabilities, providing them with a full array of outstanding educational services.

Removing violent children from the classroom is imperative.

A quality education demands discipline and standards of conduct, because a child cannot learn in chaos. That's why I supported Senator Ashcroft's IDEA reform legislation, which will permit schools to remove violent students from the classroom when they bring a gun to school.

Similarly, we must give the juvenile courts better tools to use in keeping track of violent youths. Something else we can do, which seems rather simple, is to teach children to read. There is a connection between illiteracy and juvenile crime. In fact, juvenile law enforcement officers have told me that illiteracy is the most common factor in juvenile delinquency.

For those children who fall behind in the early grades, we can provide a boost with programs like America Reads. Run by the National Service Corporation, this program provides volunteers to tutor young children who are behind in reading development after school, on weekends, and during the summer to help them catch up by the third grade.

As they head for school each morning, our children need the best efforts of their parents, their schools and the criminal justice system to keep them safe.

Letters to the editor

Purpose of early intervention

TO THE EDITOR: Being the parent of a child with disabilities, I'd like to talk about the positive results of Early Intervention. Before my son Chris arrived, I thought about what his future might hold, preschool soccer and bike riding, all the things kids normally do. These plans changed after he was diagnosed with cerebral palsy. Many children with a delay need to begin their education earlier than children who do have social needs. They may need services such as physical therapy to help them to roll, crawl or walk. A speech therapist could help with any concerns with talking. There are 16 services offered through Early Intervention.

Furthermore, when a child has special needs the whole family can benefit from a program that provides support and guidance as they learn ways to work with their child. This is an important part of the Early Intervention system. Early Intervention can begin as early as birth and continue through age 3. At no other stage of life can more be accomplished in your child's life. The Early Intervention program can help families deal with some of the feelings they may have after finding out their child has a delay. The staff can help you learn how to make caring for your child easier and more fun. Early Intervention helped me to focus on what my child could do rather than on what he couldn't do.

Sometimes if services begin early, a child may only need services for a short time. If services are needed beyond age 3 the ongoing service coordinator will help the family transition to the next program. Early Intervention is a family centered program. This program is designed around what you as a parent feel is the best for your child and family.

The Early Intervention program that we were in did all the things I mentioned and more. One of the things that I learned from the development specialist was to always remember to treat my son as a child first and then a child with a disability. Needs. That statement was something that made a big difference in our lives. These kinds of things are what Early Intervention is all about.

Kill the Gore tax
TO THE EDITOR:

Kill the Gore Tax! Do you know you are being gored by the Gore Tax? Take out your phone bill and identify "Federal Access Charge" or "Federal Universal Service Cost." This tax is illegal and unconstitutional. Why? Because it was levied by the Federal Communications Commission without the authority of Congress. Its taxation without representation! The constitution declares: "All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives." Perhaps its time for another tea party, but instead of tea it should be FCC.

The Journal encourages its readership to voice their opinions on current issues by writing a letter to the editor. Letters must be no more than 350 words and include your name and city. Also include your telephone number, which will be used to confirm authorship and will not be printed.

Letters may be edited for clarity and space limitations. We will attempt to publish letters in the order we receive them. We will not publish any letter we deem libelous or defamatory. Send your letters to: Letters to the editor, Press-Record, 1815 Delmar, Granite City, 62040.

There's still room in Boston harbor.

But how did this sneak play come about? It was originally established by the FCC to provide rural areas of the country with telephone lines and is billed as Federal Universal Service Cost on your phone bill. It has been under a cloud of suspicion since its inception. Behind closed doors the FCC, with the backing of the Clinton administration, added the "E-Rate" program. The General Accounting Office determined that the FCC has illegally established three nonprofit corporations to oversee the program's responsibilities for doling out E-Rate tax revenues and allowing bureaucrats to set tax rates, limits which are normally imposed by government agencies.

Now this unfair program has added another illegal tax, aptly called the "Gore tax" because Al Gore is its biggest cheerleader. Perhaps this is why Al Gore claims he fathered the Internet? The purpose of the Gore tax is to subsidize Internet access to schools and libraries. (Notwithstanding the fact that most of these facilities already have computers and Internet access.)

A big danger of the program is it establishes a new "entitlement" with its own bureaucracy. (Once an entitlement, always an entitlement.)

There is a limit to how much it can cost in coming years. The FCC began this summer with a 73 percent increase of the E-Rate paid by consumers of telephone service. Can you imagine what a want-list of high-tech equipment schools and libraries would put together for federal government funding under this program?

Estimates are that this "mandatory contribution" will cost the taxpayers between $10 billion over the next four years. Every American household will be squeezed to pay for this ridiculous feel-good program.

To further rub salt into our tax wounds, FCC took deliberate steps to block phone companies from using identifying words such as "FCC," "federal," "required" or "mandated" in their itemized bills to their customers. What are they trying to hide? Is the FCC now violating the "freedom of speech" provision of the Bill of Rights?

But there is a light at the end of the tunnel. Rep. Tancred of Colorado has introduced a bill, H.R. 692, to terminate the unconstitutional Gore tax immediately. Please contact your representatives and urge them to support H.R. 692.

Veterans offer thanks
TO THE EDITOR:

Recently, the Collinsville Wal-Mart store held a fund-raiser for the World War II Memorial to be built in Washington, D.C. This memorial will cost about $100 million and will be the only Memorial dedicated to those who served in the Armed Forces during World War II.

Ray Hoback, manager of the Collinsville Wal-Mart, and Elise McCartney, who was the organizer of the event, are to be commended for their efforts in making this fund-raiser a great success. The rain stopped before the program started, so those who took part in the program and all those who attended were able to enjoy the program.

The St. Louis Gateway Chapter, Veterans of the Battle of Bulge had been invited to be part of the program, along with the veterans from the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars organizations.

County informs businesses about hepatitis precautions

Low-cost immunizations offered several days a week

By Kerry Smith
Staff writer

Madison County has mailed an informative letter to the more than 700 restaurants in the county, reminding them to caution their employees to always wash their hands while on duty.

The hepatitis A scare hasn't quieted since the incidents at Caseyville's Hardees and the St. Louis Hard Rock Cafe between Sept. 13 and Oct. 9, when kitchen employees worked while unknowingly suffered from the disease. Earlier this week, another hepatitis A scare popped up at M.P. O'Reilly's in St. Louis, where a bartender has contracted the illness.

Madison County officials want restaurant owners to know that low-cost immunizations are available on a walk-in basis several days a week for those who have a need.

"Hepatitis A is spread through fecal and oral transmission," said Debra Tscheschlok, personal health services manager for Madison County. "There is a hepatitis A vaccine and we are offering it through the health department." Civic Memorial High School registered nurse Karen Martin said the campus has given 61 shots since the Hard Rock incident from mid-September through early October.

"We immunized quite a few students within two weeks of when they were exposed," Martin said. "You have to get vaccinated within two weeks in order for it to be effective."

Madison County environmental health services manager Toni Corona said that the county sent letters to all permitted eateries in the area the day after the Hard Rock incident was reported.

"The letter basically lets restaurant owners know we have these immunizations available, and reminds them of the importance of employees washing their hands and avoiding bare-hand contact with ready-to-eat foods," Corona said.

Appointments are not required to get a hepatitis A immunization from Madison County. Individuals may come to the clinic on Mondays from 2 to 5:30 p.m., on Tuesdays from 9 to 11:30 a.m. or 1 to 4:30 p.m., or on Wednesdays from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

Those actually exposed to hepatitis A can receive an injection of immunoglobulin, a shot that minimizes the symptoms yet does not provide long-term protection, Corona said.

MCT District transit center may open in December

Facility should be operational before grand opening

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The long-awaited Madison County Transit District's transit center in Edwardsville may officially open in early December, but

MCT officials hope to be using it before then.

At the monthly MCT Board meeting Wednesday, Managing Director Jerry Kane said the center, the second of five planned for the county, that a grand opening ceremony will be delayed because of the Thanksgiving.

However, he said that they plan to start bus service from the center as soon as possible.

The board also approved several resolutions relating to capital projects planned by MCT.

A resolution to approve a contract grant agreement with the Illinois Department of Transportation for the construction of the Collinsville Transit Center was approved by board members.

That center is expected to be located at the intersection of Clay and Clinton streets, but Kane said the sale of the property has not been finalized.

One problem is that the property was a bank parking lot, and because of bank mergers it has switched hands several times.

The cost of the project is estimated at about $2 million. The agreement will allow MCT to obtain a $400,000 grant for the local matching funds, with the remainder coming from the federal government.

The board also approved two resolutions dealing with agreements with the Illinois Department of Natural Resources.

The first agreement will allow MCT to use a $200,000 grant as part of the local match for the first phase of the $5 million Confluence Bikeway. Construction is expected to begin on the project early next year.

The second resolution was a project agreement with the Illinois Department of Natural Resources on the acquisition of an abandoned Norfolk-Southern rail line from Sorrento to Granite City.

Kane also said the extension of the Madison County Nature Trail from Illinois Route 157 into the Esic neighborhood in Edwardsville was recently completed. He noted that a number of Edwardsville High School students have started using the trail to get to school.

In other business, the board approved holding the November meeting on Nov. 18 because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Weather bureau looking for storm spotters

SKYWARN classes offered to provide tips to alert residents

By Glen Sparks
Staff writer

The National Weather Service Bureau in St. Louis has some of the most sophisticated radar and computer equipment in the nation, but it isn't enough.

The weather service would need to install radar every 20 feet to get exact storm information for every community, said Jim Krämper, storm warning coordination meteorologist for much of eastern Missouri and southern Illinois.

"And at $3 million or $4 million a pop, that isn't going to happen," Krämper said. Instead, the weather service relies on storm spotters to call the bureau (1-800-852-7437) about such severe weather incidents as dime-size hail, strong winds, street flooding and, in the most extreme cases, tornadoes.

In the winter, spotters call in snowfall reports or alerts at the onset of freezing rain or sleet.

"We need to build up our base of weather spotters in the city," Krämper said at a SKYWARN Spotter Training Class last Thursday night at the St. Louis Senior Center, 5602 Arsenal St.

Often, the bureau uses reports from its storm spotters to issue weather watches and warnings to the community. Nothing, even radar, beats looking out the window.

"I can guess from the radar what's happening," said Krämper, who works in

"I can guess from the radar what's happening. I can be highly sure. But do I know for sure? No. I need someone to tell me. You're near the storm. You know what's happening."

Jim Krämper
Storm warning coordination meteorologist

the weather service's St. Charles office. "I can be highly sure. But do I know for sure? No. I need someone to tell me. You're near the storm. You know what's happening."

To become an official SKYWARN storm spotter, residents must attend one of the weather service's two-hour classes and then fill out a form that then goes into the service's computer.

For dates and locations of future SKYWARN classes, Krämper recommends residents call either the city Emergency Management Agency at 622-3501 or the county EMA at 469-3141.

"You get an official number and this tells us when you call in that you probably know more about storms and weather systems than the average citizen," Krämper said.

Spotters should tell the weather service meteorologist what is happening, where it is happening and which direction the storm is moving.

As for tips, quarter-size hail is about 1 inch in diameter. Large branches twist and turn in 25 to 31-mph winds. Entire trees begin swaying in 32 to 38-mph gusts and twigs start breaking off trees at 39 mph. Gusts of 55-mph push over small trees and damage chimneys.

Thunderstorms, of course, seem to hit St. Louis in the spring and summer about as often as Big Mac hits home runs. The strongest storms produce large hail, damaging winds and frequent lightning strikes.

On average, 27 tornadoes hit Missouri each year. A famous twister in 1896 barreled through Lafayette Square. Another in 1959 tore off part of the Arena roof. Wind speeds inside a tornado can reach speeds in excess of 250-mph.

Krämper discourages strongly discourages residents from chasing tornadoes in their cars.

"That's the last thing I want people to do," he said. "We just want information. You can do this by just sitting in your home and looking out the window every once in a while."

The combination of high-tech equipment and reports from storm spotters is saving lives, Krämper said.

"With radar, we've been able to issue tornado warnings as long as 10 minutes before the tornado forms," he said. "We get successes and we get failures, but we just don't want to miss anything."

Mayes trial scheduled to begin December 7

Granite City man charged with felony distribution

After several delays by defense attorneys, a tentative trial date has been set for two men charged with bringing in drugs from Mexico after a March raid in Jersey County.

Travis Mayes, of Granite City, and Mexico native Maximino Diaz were arrested in the Jersey County town of Delhi during a series of coordinated raids in Delhi as well as Granite City. Their trial on several felony drug distribution charges is scheduled for Dec. 7 in Jersey County Circuit Court in Jerseyville. However, that date could change.

Authorities said Mayes runs an organization that is the source of roughly half the cocaine and marijuana coming into Jersey and Greene counties. The organization allegedly ships the drugs from Mexico via Dallas and Granite City. Police hope the raids shut down a ring believed to be responsible for bringing about $200,000 worth of marijuana and cocaine into the area each month. Granite City resident Buford Mitchell was also arrested during a raid in that town.

The arrests were made by agents from the South Central Illinois Drug Task Force, the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois, the Illinois State Police, the Jersey County Sheriff's Department and the Jerseyville Police Department.

Mayes, a convicted felon, is charged with criminal drug conspiracy, two counts of unlawful delivery of marijuana and one count of unlawful delivery of cocaine, all felonies. He has served time in state prison on previous drug charges.

Diaz, whose last known address was in Dallas, is charged with unlawful delivery of a controlled substance and trafficking of a controlled substance, both felonies.

In a separate case, Mayes has pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court in East St. Louis to a charge of retaliation against a federal witness by causing physical injury, federal officials said. The federal offense took place on or about March 21 in Madison County, said officials from the U.S. attorney's office for the Southern District of Illinois.

Diaz is being held in Jersey County Jail in Jerseyville in lieu of $500,000 bond, while Mayes is in the custody of federal authorities.

SIUE organizations seek local building investors

Groups seek to raise $2 million for new construction

By Barbara M. Cope
Staff writer

Two support organizations for Southern Illinois University Edwardsville say they have a deal for you.

The SIUE Foundation and SIUE Alumni Association hope local investors are looking for a local opportunity as $2 million worth of bonds hit the market on Friday to finance a new campus building.

The building that will house The Foundation, a fund-raising support organization for Southern Illinois University Edwardsville, and the SIUE Alumni Association will be named B. Bernard Birger Hall, in honor of an alumnus who donated land at the north end of campus for the project.

The design and engineering work is complete. We are currently in the process of seeking bids from subcontractors," said Bradley Hewitt, acting chief executive officer of the SIUE Foundation. "We are behind our original schedule. There were some structural issues that held us up, but we should be moving dirt any time now."

The university plans to use the building as a visitor's center and an alumni center. The project will cost slightly more than $2 million, part of which will be funded from donations from three donors whose names have not yet been released. The plans for the building call for only 60 percent of the second floor to be finished in order to cut the cost. The rest will be finished as money becomes available.

Because the SIUE Foundation is a nonprofit organization, its officials had to ask the city of Edwardsville to act as a "conduit issuer" for the bonds. The release of the bonds followed passage of the ordinance allowing the issue by only three days.

Construction estimates, so far, are not quite so timely. Hewitt said the engineering and design work for the building are completed, but the project has fallen behind.

"The original schedule was for completion near the end of March. At this point, we are about five or six weeks behind. We are still looking at about 12,000 square feet. We've been working on some last-minute issues concerning the exterior or facade materials," Hewitt said.

Hewitt said the plans for the interior could be improved upon soon. The foundation is hoping to announce gifts that would allow it to enhance the interior features of the new building.

Park District sponsors Nashville weekend trip

The Granite City Park District is offering its last overnight trip for 1999 the weekend of Dec. 3 through 5. This three-day venture will be to Nashville, Tenn. The sign-up day for the trip is 8 a.m. Oct. 28 at the Wilson Park Ice Rink.

This is a "must" tour for country music lovers as the first evening will include a Southern buffet dinner and entertainment at the new Nashville Nightlife Theatre that features one of six major stars and other lesser-known musical groups. Prior to the dinner and the show, time will be allowed for Christmas shopping at the Factory Merchants Mall after lunch at Luby's Cafeteria and a little time for rest at the Wilson Inn, where the group will stay while in Nashville.

A deluxe continental breakfast will start a busy day two. An early morning tour of the Opryland Hotel will be made while the facility is less busy and then it's on to Franklin, Tenn., where the group will be split, with one half boarding a smaller coach for a tour of the stars homes while the others will be shopping in the quaint downtown area. This will reverse with all travelers doing both.

The next stop will be on Second Street in downtown Nashville, where time will be allowed to browse and shop at the Hard Rock Cafe, NASCAR Caf, Wild Horse Saloon, Cotton Eye Joe's, etc. The remaining time in the afternoon will include a visit back to the Opryland Hotel for a visit to the Christmas Craft Show for those that wish to attend before an Italian dinner at Cap Avanti. In the hotel that is fully decorated for the Christmas season with miles of red ribbon, garlands and poinsettias inside and over a million lights outside.

After dinner, the group will attend the 6:30 p.m. performance of the World Famous Grand Ole Opry. Day three will include a visit to "The Hermitage," home of the late president Andrew Jackson after breakfast and then depart the Nashville area for home. Lunch and browsing time will be at Patti's 1880

Settlement in Grand Rivers, Ky.

The cost of the trip will be $305 for a single reservation, $260 per person for two to a room, $235 per person for a triple and $225 per person for a quad. This is $3 more than advertised previously.

One person can sign up for one room, with proof of residency being presented for each person unless husband and wife. Non-residents will be placed on a waiting list and notified of availability one week later.

The trip cost includes motorcoach transportation, hotel, two shows and five meals. For those choosing to attend the craft show, a fee must be paid by each individual at that time.

If more information is needed, call Sue Champion at her residence, 451-1212, or the Wilson Park Office.

Pontoon Road for 24 years, said the problem began about seven months ago. In that span, he has contacted the mayor's office and spoken with authorities from the Granite City Police Department to ask for help to rectify the situation.

"I haven't received any positive feedback," Stimac said. "I feel the police department does not care for the safety of people in that area, or they would do something."

Granite City Police Chief Dave Ruebhausen said despite what Stimac believes, the department is not ignoring his complaints. "I would enforce the area, but don't feel comfortable doing it," Ruebhausen said. Ruebhausen feels that way, he said, because the stretch of road is not maintained by the city, but by the state, and does not have signs that state it is a no truck zone area. In addition, Ruebhausen said the majority of West Pontoon Road is truck accessible and is all inclusive to trucks that deliver products to businesses in that area.

In a brief discussion at the meeting, aldermen agreed a solution is necessary and plan to iron one out. Also, Granite City Mayor Ron Selph said the city and state are working together to turn the no truck zone area over to the city, which could help expedite a solution.

The contract for the local expired Sept. 30, but was extended until Oct. 1. Contract talks failed that weekend, causing the Oct. 4 lockout, union representatives said. Since the lockout, the union has met twice with the company, but officials from it have remained steadfast, rejecting all union proposals. About 750 workers from the company, the parent company of Armco Steel, have been affected by it.

A meeting between both parties was tentatively set for this morning at the Holiday Inn in Collinsville. The last meeting was on Oct. 21.

Kory Michael Dunnivant, 19, of the 2500 block of Hodges, Granite City, was charged with felony and misdemeanor mob action and misdemeanor disorderly conduct and criminal trespass.

William Zeb Smiley, 18, of the 400 block of Klondike, Staunton, was charged with misdemeanor mob action, disorderly conduct and criminal trespass. Stafford and Dunnivant could receive a three-year prison sentence because of the felony charges.

According to authorities,

Stafford, Dunnivant, Smiley and other members were told by partygoers to leave the residence because they were not invited to the party. They did without incident, but returned a short time later and began yelling profanities and instigating a shoving match with several partygoers and their parents that led to a fight. Before police arrived, members had fled in a pickup truck, but were later apprehended.

said he does not consider the mob a gang, but a dysfunctional group who enjoy causing trouble.

"They're a bunch of idiots who try to intimidate people," Ruebhausen said. "They're intimidators and violence seekers."

In April, the mob crashed a party in Madison that led to the death of Frederick Hacke III, a 20-year-old mob member. A teenager who police said was kicked and punched by the mob when he would not allow members into his parents' home shot Hacke to death. The teenaged gunman was not charged, but 11 members were indicted in that incident on mob action or invasion charges. Dunnivant was charged with felony mob action.

while trick-or-treating and to stop at all corners. They should also never dart out between parked cars.

An adult or older sibling should also supervise them, especially when the child is under the age of 10.

Madison County also has safety tips for motorists. Along with slowing down in residential neighborhoods, they need to obey all traffic signs and signals. Motorists need to watch for children walking in the street or on medians and curbs and enter and exit driveways carefully.

Furthermore, when choosing a costume for the night, parents should look for flame resistant labels on costumes, or use flame resistant materials when creating a costume.

Areas throughout Madison County are getting ready for Halloween night. Collinsville, Maryville, Caseyville, Granite City and Pontoon Beach are asking residents to go trick-or-treating between 6 to 9 p.m., and Madison is asking residents to go trick-or-treating between 6 to 8 p.m.

Granite City posts win in playoff opener

Warriors wax West in the AA sectional quarterfinal

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

The second meeting between Granite City and Belleville West ended with the exact same score as the first meeting.

But this time, the decision ended Belleville West's season while allowing the Warriors to advance in the IHSA Class AA sectional tournament.

Granite City defeated the Maroons 3-0, repeating the decision of the Sept. 27 Southwestern Conference meeting between the two teams.

The Warriors, who lost last year's playoff opener to Alton after having the No. 1 seed, had some anxious moments against Belleville West.

Granite City was held scoreless in the first half by the Maroons' defense and keeper Matt Nagel.

But the second half was a different story.

The Warriors struck 2 minutes 3 seconds after intermission. Rich Edwards dribbled down the left side, deked the defender and crossed to Chris

Semifinal field includes Kahoks, Tigers and Lancers

Collinsville advances past Springfield High with OT rally

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

There is something about the postseason that brings out the best in Collinsville.

Junior Nathan Doherty's goal at 85:22 ignited a wild celebration as the Kahoks topped Springfield High 2-1 in sudden-death overtime Tuesday evening in Springfield.

With the victory, the Kahoks (13-9) advanced and face top-seeded Edwardsville in the sectional semifinals 5 p.m. today at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Doherty's goal gave the Kahoks their first come-from-behind victory of the season and also gave the team some vindication. The Kahoks lost 1-0 to East Moline United Township on Lee Field last year during the super sectionals.

"Oh, sweet goals late," said Collinsville coach Ron Rowden as he watched the players and fans gather in a circle and sing. "I would have loved to have had a rematch with East Moline, but you know what? Coming back here and playing well through some adversity with players in and out of the lineup, but the bottom line is we won. We have got a little confidence, and let's

"I was just trying to chip it over the keeper, and that's what I did."

Joe McClary was credited with both assists, but the game-winner was a thing of beauty. McClary took control of the ball near midfield and drew two defenders on him. McClary's pass split both defenders covering Doherty, who floated a shot over the Springfield keeper's head.

"I saw Joe McClary get the ball," Doherty said. "He turned and had a lot of space to run to. I just tried running in the space behind. I was just hoping he would see me and look up. He did and got me the ball. I just tried to get a foot on it and get it on net."

The shot appeared to float a bit, but Doherty wasn't looking to blast it on net.

Belleville East's improvement on display in win vs. O'Fallon

By Scott Marion
Staff writer

The Belleville East soccer team has come a long way since a 4-0 loss to the O'Fallon Panthers on Aug. 31.

The Lancers provided an impressive demonstration of their improvement with a 3-0 victory against O'Fallon Tuesday night in the quarterfinals of the IHSA Class AA Edwardsville Sectional.

The Lancers (9-13) advance to face No. 2 seed Granite City in tonight's semifinals at Southern Illinois University.

Edwardsville. The host Panthers, who were the No. 3 seed, ended the season at 17-3.

"We started playing much better in the Hazelwood (Mo.) Central Tournament," said

East coach Gary Carr, whose team won for the fifth time in its last six games. "We played really well against Parkway Central and lost a close game."

"Then we beat (Belleville) West and Alton and played well in two out of three games at the Granite City Tournament."

We lost a 3-2 to (Creve Coeur, Mo.) DeSmet on a penalty kick and lost 2-1 to (St. Charles County, Mo.) Francis Howell Central on a muffed play.

"We beat Granite City and Triad and lost a difficult one to Althoff, but we came back and came back to beat Gibault and Florissant, Mo. McCluer North."

After going 16-6 last year and 13-2 in 1987, the Lancers started this year with nine new starters.

"We had a lot of slots to fill and we had some kids who had to learn some basic soccer concepts," Carr said. "With so many new faces, it took a while to fit the right pegs into the right holes. We're a much smarter team now than the team that lost to O'Fallon in the second game of the season."

After a scoreless first half, Konrad Meister gave East a 1-0 lead with a goal 49 seconds into the second half. Mike Schaeffer got the assist.

Fourteen minutes later, Nick Hartman, assisted by Ryan Coates, increased East's lead to 2-0.

Coates, assisted by Randy Flach, scored at the 63-minute mark to put the Lancers up by three.

Jay Stephenson, who has had a really good year at sweeper, got a red card in the McCluer North game and couldn't play (Tuesday) night."

Davis wins professional debut

Granite City boxer wins split decision in four-round bout

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

When you think of sports that involve the whole family, boxing probably isn't the first thing that jumps to mind.

But with his dad and brother ringside, Ryan Davis launched his pro career Oct. 20 in Chicago with a four-round split decision against Willie Cruz.

Cruz is the sparring partner of three-time world lightweight champ John John Molina, who fought and lost to Oscar De La Hoya. Cruz came out of Molina's camp in Puerto Rico to be part of the undercard with Davis.

"I started out real well," Davis said. "But 30 seconds into the first round, I got head-butted and I was cut over the right eye. I was bleeding pretty good, but I didn't let it bother me. I

Granite City rolls to sectional

Boys finish 2nd at regional; Meyer qualifies as individual for girls

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

Granite City rolls on.

The Warriors boys cross-country team qualified for this Saturday's sectional by placing second in last weekend's Class AA Edwardsville Regional with 71 points. Edwardsville won the event with a perfect score of 15. As usual, Kevin Atkins led the way for the Warriors with a time of 17:32.

But this time he had a teammate right on his heels. Andy Balcer finished the course just four seconds behind Atkins at 17:36.

"Those two were very close, and that was great," Granite City coach Tom Haefer said. "I think Kevin may have still been suffering some of the after-effects of the heat exhaustion from a week earlier. He wasn't up to his top speed yet. But he will be ready for sectionals on Saturday. I

Sports

Prep playoffs add to great time for sports fans

Is there a better time of the year for a sports fan?

There's college football and soccer, NFL football, the start of the National Hockey League season and the conclusion of the baseball season with the World Series.

The high school sports calendar also is full with football, soccer, volleyball, golf, cross country and girls tennis. And it's playoff time.

The boys soccer playoffs are off to a roaring start. With teams split into large and small school classifications, blowouts are less common in the first rounds.

Last year, top-seeded Granite City lost its playoff opener by bowing to Alton in the IHSAA Class AA sectional quarterfinal.

In Tuesday's Class AA Edwardsville sectional quarterfinals, sixth-seeded Belleville East was an unexpected winner, knocking off third-seeded O'Fallon 3-0. O'Fallon, which will join the Southwestern Conference in the 2000-01 school year, had its way in the Metro East this season en route to a 17-3 record.

For Belleville East (9-13) to continue its playoff run, the Lancers must defeat second-seeded Granite City 7 p.m. Tuesday at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville. In the first sectional semifinal at 5 p.m., top-seeded Edwardsville takes on fifth-seeded Collinsville.

The Kahoks, who always seem to be tough at this time of the year, defeated Springfield High 2-1 on Tuesday night in Springfield. Two years ago, Springfield won the first IHSAA Class A state championship before its enrollment forced a move into Class AA.

Last season, Collinsville was a surprise sectional champion before bowing to East Moline United in the Springfield Super-sectional. The Kahoks face a tall task in trying to topple the Tigers, who have been unbeatable for Metro East teams this season.

In Class A, the competition has gotten better as the playoff field gets smaller. Three of the four quarterfinal games in the Columbia sectional were decided by a 1-0 score - Waterloo over Mascoutah, Marion over Centralia and Carbondale over Lebanon. Top-seeded Althoff, the defending sectional champion, dumped Mater Del 3-0.

The matchups for Friday have Althoff playing Waterloo at 5:30 p.m. and South Seven Conference rivals Marion and Carbondale meeting at 7 p.m. Althoff is joining that conference next school year.

With some shift of Class A postseason assignments, Highland and Triad are in the Alton-Marquette sectional at Gordon Moore Park in Alton. Three of the top four seeds survived as third-seeded Greenville was upset 2-0 by Bethalto Civic Memorial. Today, top-seeded Highland meets fourth-seeded Triad and second-seeded Roxana takes on Civic Memorial.

The football playoffs kick off Friday night. The season has been disappointing for the Southwestern Conference, which will be represented only by unbeaten Edwardsville. The Tigers (9-0) are seeded fourth among the 32 Class 6A qualifiers and will host Gurnee Warren (6-3) at 7 p.m. Friday.

Unbeaten Cahokia (9-0) is in the Class 5A field. The third-seeded Comanches will host Glenbard South at 2 p.m. Saturday. The Mississippi Valley Conference has three teams in the Class 4A playoffs. Jerseyville (9-0) is seeded sixth and will host 27th-seeded Peoria Richwoods (6-3) at 7 p.m. Friday; No. 14 Bethalto Civic Memorial (8-1) will host No. 17 Peoria Notre Dame (8-1) at 7 p.m. Friday; and No. 26 Highland (7-2) will play at No. 8 Normal (9-0) at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Breese Mater Del (7-2) is seeded No. 23 in Class 3A and will play at No. 10 Wilmington (8-1) for a 7:30 p.m. Friday contest.

Dupo (4-5), the Cahokia Conference champion, will meet top-seeded Tuscola (9-0) in the Class 2A playoffs. The game is 7 p.m. Friday at Tuscola.

The excitement is building in the girls volleyball playoffs as well, where Belleville West and Althoff are among the teams to beat in Class AA while Mater Del and Breese Central are the top teams in Class A.

Warriors wax West in quarterfinal

Mertz. The senior tapped the ball in while falling over Nagel and following his score into the net.

"I just made the run and went behind the guy," Mertz said. "I got past him and Rich was carrying the ball. I screamed to him and he played it to me and I put it past the keeper."

"That's the neat for Chris as a senior, making his last game on this field pretty eventful," Granite City coach Gene Baker said.

Granite City's second goal came 1:50 later. Mike Smith sent the ball ahead through the air to Edwards. The sophomore let the ball bounce, circled under it, and curled a shot past Nagel.

"That was a great pass from Mike and then a great finish," Baker said. "It was a polished finish by Rich."

Granite City completed the blitz five minutes later when Jeremiah Beckley crossed to Smith, who slid the ball in.

"I passed the ball to Miah and he passed it back," Smith said. "He played a great ball to me and I just saw it and put it in."

"That was all about Miah sticking with the play," Baker said. "He stuck with the play to come back around. I was really happy that he had the kind of game he had."

"We had a lot of pressure in the first half and we didn't finish," Baker said.

"We felt like Justin (Roehr) was real stable in goal. The backfield was pretty organized. Chad (Bridgeman) did a good job. (David) Hartwick was pretty much of a subtle force in the game. I thought he was very good at midfield. Mike had a very consistent game. Andrew Crider had a good game, as did (Josh) Peacher in the backfield in the first half. Then we switched systems at halftime."

Belleville West coach Jason Mathenia, who played for Baker at Granite City, was impressed with the Warriors' second half attack.

"They really did come out strong in the second half," Mathenia said. "They must have gotten a pep talk."

"We know what beat us. The couple of opportunities that they had they got the goals on and that's what killed us, because in the first half it was 0-0 and we played one of the best defensive games we have played all year. We just weren't quite up to par in the second half."

Nagel, a senior, was a standout in goal for Belleville West.

"He had an excellent game," Mathenia said. "He deserves a lot more credit than he is getting by all means. All year, he and Pat White have both been neck-and-neck and I just made the decision to go with him in the playoffs. He made excellent saves and really came up big for us. Those kinds of breaks happen."

The Maroons finished the season 7-13-2.

The Warriors (15-7-2) ended a three-game losing streak, which had begun after a second-place finish behind Creve Coeur (Mo.) Chamblade in the Pepsi-Cola/Granite City High School Tournament of Champions (Oct. 4-9) and a win Oct. 12 against SWC rival Collinsville.

"Coach had us real ready," Smith said. "After three losses, we were all fired up to come back and play. We just came out with some heart and played real well."

Granite City will have the chance to avenge one of those regular-season ending losses tonight in the sectional semifinal round. Belleville East, which upset O'Fallon in the sectional quarterfinal on Tuesday night, will try to repeat a 4-1 win at Granite City on Oct. 14.

"It was pretty upsetting because we were all ready for senior night and they showed a couple goals right in our face," Mertz said of the first meeting. "It was pretty upsetting because we had the barbecue and everything else set up for later that night."

"East is on a roll and we want to be able to end their season if we can," Baker said. "Physical is a euphemism for them and their play. We have to deal with that. They have the capacity to really change the disposition of the game."

"We have to come out and move the ball. We need a good game on that big field out of Peacher and (Tim) Kessel. Mike and Rich, our speed guys. They can do it for us on that field."

"East is on a roll and we want to be able to end their season if we can," Baker said. "Physical is a euphemism for them and their play. We have to deal with that. They have the capacity to really change the disposition of the game."

Carr said. "A sophomore, Brad Lanus, started in his place and did a good job. When Brad needed a sub, we put in another sophomore, Pat Johnson."

"Pat Hoercher, who was in goal for the second half when we played O'Fallon the first time, hasn't gotten much recognition as a sophomore, but he's made some big plays. He has a bruised knee, so he was playing with some discomfort. We've had three shutouts in a row and we've allowed only three goals in the last six games."

to the ball," Doherty said. "I didn't want to hit it all the way because I didn't want to hit it over. I was just trying to chip it over the keeper, and that's what I did."

The Kahoks trailed the Senators for most of the game despite having eight restart opportunities in the final third. Ryan Raschke gave the Senators the lead at 16:50.

It appeared Lee Field would curse the Kahoks with another 1-0 loss, but with 3:08 remaining in regulation, Collinsville received its ninth restart.

The Maroons finished the season 7-13-2.

Adam Burgess drew the call when he and a Senators defender chased a loose ball into the box.

The Springfield player never touched the ball. Instead, he shielded Burgess from it and was called for obstruction.

The Kahoks took their time to set up a play. McClary lined up and tapped the ball to Burgess, who blasted a low shot into the net to tie it at 1-1 with 2:32 left in the game.

"After Adam's goal, we knew we had the edge," Doherty said. "We had the momentum going into overtime. We knew we were going to win this game."

Tigers open playoffs against Gurnee Warren

By Greg Shashack
Staff writer

When Edwardsville plays host to Gurnee Warren in the opening round of the Class 6A playoffs, Tigers coach Tim Dougherty will see a familiar face on the visitor's sideline.

Warren, which will bring a 6-3 record and the No. 29 seed to the Sports Complex for a 7 p.m. game Friday, is in the playoffs for the first time since 1994 and the first time under third-year coach Dave Mohapp. Mohapp and Dougherty were on the same coaching staff at Illinois State

Blue Devils boast same offensive qualities as Edwardsville

University in 1987-88. Dougherty as line-backers coach and Mohapp as running backs coach.

While the two coaches have occasionally crossed paths over the past decade, they will be on the same football field for the first time since their days in Normal.

Edwardsville, 9-0 in the regular season and the No. 4 seed in the 32-team field, is in the playoffs for the fifth straight season and is making its second successive appearance at the Class 6A level.

Warren, in the playoffs for the 11th time, steps up to Class 6A for the first time. The Blue Devils boast speed at tail-back in 5-foot-8, 175-pound senior Dante Daniels, who won the Class AA state title in the 200 meters as a junior last spring.

Daniels missed most of the season with an injury before returning in Week 8, so 5-6, 175-pound junior Matt Van Daele picked up the slack with more than 1,200 yard rushing.

"Offensively, it's a lot like looking at ourselves," Dougherty said. "A lot of their running schemes are very similar, if not the same, and they want to identify themselves by running the ball."

beat him in the first round. My dad and brother (T.J.) were in my corner and they took care of my eye."

"The second round was close, but at the end of the round he threw a body shot and I thought he broke my rib. I went to the corner and told my dad that I thought it was broken. He asked me if I wanted to stop the fight and I said I would keep going."

"In the third round my rib hurt real bad, it was bothering me a lot. He got the best of me in the third round. After the round my dad asked me again if I wanted to stop the fight and I said that I wanted to finish it, that I wasn't going to quit."

Davis put together a strong final round.

About 30 seconds into the round I hit him with a right hand and it dropped him," Davis said. "I hit him with a 1-

2, knocked him against the ropes, and dropped him again. He got up and I just kept hammering him with the right hand until the bell rang."

"It was a 'Rocky' comeback," said Ryan's dad, Terry. "The crowd went crazy."

"The announcer was very impressed with Ryan fighting someone with a record. They commented on his movement and combinations and how well he dealt with the things that were happening to him, especially the first 30 seconds of the first round, when he cut his eye. He just kept going with the gameplan."

"He hit Cruz with a good right hand. Ryan continued to stay on him, from the middle of the ring to the ropes, and kept hitting him. He was close to knocking Cruz out, but he went to the bell. It was a combination of right hands and hooks and the guy didn't throw back. The announcers really elaborated on his style and on his comeback ability."

Two of the judges scored the fight for Davis (38-37 and 39-36) while one scored it 38-37 for Cruz.

Davis reached the semifinals of the U.S. Olympic Trials four years ago at the age of 17. Prior to that, he won Golden Gloves titles in St. Louis and Springfield, Ill. Davis has been to the U.S. Championships in Colorado Springs and two years ago was ranked third in the U.S. National Tournament.

Davis believes family support was important in his professional debut.

"I probably couldn't have finished the guy off in the fourth without my dad and T.J.'s help," Davis said. "I didn't know what to do and they told me to use the right hand and it worked."

Terry Davis trains fighters at the Fairmont City Gym, soon to be called the 45th Street POW Gym.

Perfect season

The Merz Chiropractic softball team completed an undefeated season at the Granite City Park District. The team posted a 14-0 record in the Pontiat Bantam Division, sweeping first place in the regular season and the playoffs. The girls scored 216 runs while surrendering just 30 runs. The team batting average was .405. Five pitchers — Carey Burton, Tasha Dittamore, Kelsey Johnson, Lauren Stovall and Amy Stidham — struck out 228 batters in 83 innings. The team members and their families held an end-of-season party at Paddlers Swim Club on Aug. 22. Each girl received an individual trophy at the party. Team members are (from left): Tasha Dittamore, Kelsey Johnson, Samantha Jones, and Taylor Hay; Second row — Amy Stidham, Brittany Davison, Emily Stone, Jesse Costello, Michelle Costello, and Ashley Drury; Third row — Carey Burton, Kayla Benham, Kelli Laub, Ashley Evenson, and Lauren Stovall; In back — coaches Greg Stovall, Pat Dittamore, Keith Burton, and Kerry Johnson. Not pictured is Coach Ed Williamson.

was very happy with both of them. We hope for the sectionals that they can both step it up even further."

Sophomore Jim Treake was the third-place runner for the Warriors, finishing in at 17:58. Gerald Curtis and Rich Skirball were right behind at 18:01 and 18:14, respectively.

"It was really good for the top five to be that close together," Haefner said. "Sheldon Murphy, our freshman hope, also had a good time with 18:55. James Murphy (19:01) injured his calf and won't be able to go Saturday, so our sectional lineup will be a little different. We're moving John Lance up. He will be our seventh man at sectionals. Tuesday night we had a time trial, and he beat Sheldon in a run-off. We do get Josh Stillwell back at No. 3. He couldn't run in regionals, but we are looking for help from him in sectionals."

The girls sent a representative to the individual tournament. Penny Meyer finished in 13th place at 17:53.

"Penny qualified, and that was very good," Haefner said. "Angela Kromar" finished in 22nd and missed qualifying by one person. So we'll have the whole boys team and one girl in the sectionals."

"I am very happy with the way the season has worked out so far. The kids have worked hard, practiced well and run very well as a team. They know they have to run close and run as a block. The top five on the team need to be within about 20 seconds of each other to score some points."

The sectional is at 10 a.m. Saturday at Centralia Foundation Park.

"We will go up Friday so we have an idea what the course is like," Haefner said. "Becoming familiar with the layout will help with their strategy. If they just have an idea of where to go and know what to expect from their times in the mile, they can pace themselves. It is going to be really tough competition."

FROM LAST WEEK

WINSTON CUP SERIES
Cheer all you want for Jeff Burton, who is putting the finishing touches on a fine year, but consider, too, the plight of his older brother.
Ward Burton deserved better. No one knew this more vividly than Jeff. Yet still, the younger brother's job was to unmercifully prolong the other's suffering by beating him in yet another Winston Cup race.
This saga is getting nauseatingly familiar. Jeff Burton, the 32-year-old emerging superstar, won the Pop Secret 400 at Rockingham in a Ford, with Ward Burton, who turned 38 the day after the race, finishing second. It was the third time this year the Burtons finished 1-2, with Jeff winning each time.
At least it wasn't Ward's birth-

BUSCH GRAND NATIONAL
When Mark Martin won the pole on Friday, it was hardly cause for celebration to the rest of those lining up for Saturday's Kmart 200.
Martin's Busch Grand National record at North Carolina Speedway is similar to the New York Yankees' record in the World Series. Martin's seemingly inevitable victory was the 10th time he has won at Rockingham and his 40th victory in the support series overall. Both figures are all-time records.
Martin's mastery was sporadically challenged, but his black-and-yellow Ford was the car to beat for most of the day. He led 142 of the 197 laps, including the final 66.

1999 WINSTON CUP SCHEDULE

FEUD OF THE WEEK

Dale Earnhardt vs. Kenny Irwin
Earnhardt felt like Irwin, making one of his final runs with Robert Yates, put his Chevrolet in the wall. "I came up off the corner," said Earnhardt, "and he started up on me." Irwin went on to finish 13th; Earnhardt wound up 40th.

NASCAR This Week's Monte Dutton gives his opinion: "The incident was particularly damaging to Earnhardt, who probably lost any chance to finish in the top five in points. Earnhardt is seventh, and the guy who is sixth, Jeff Burton, won the race. That leaves Earnhardt 161 points behind Burton and 204 behind Tony Stewart, who is fifth."

PROFILE

Derrike Cope

Derrike Cope, right, has two wins in 350 Winston Cup starts.

By Monte Dutton
NASCAR This Week

The winding career of Winston Cup veteran Derrike Cope will take another turn in 2000 when he takes over the driving duties of the No. 15, Spartanburg, S.C.-based Ford Taurus housed in the longtime shop of Walter "Bud" Moore.
Moore sold his team recently to the Fenley brothers, a pair of California businessmen who had been active in West Coast racing. Cope debuted the car recently at Lowe's Motor Speedway, where he qualified 24th and finished 35th.
The highlight of Cope's career was a victory in the 1990 Daytona 500, a classic upset in which he took the lead from Dale Earnhardt, who had a tire go down, on the final lap. Cope added another Winston Cup victory that year at Dover.
Cope has been unable to add another victory since. During his career, he has driven for owners George Jefferson, Fred Stok, Jim Testa, Bob Whitcomb, Cale Yarborough, T.W. Taylor, Bobby Allison, Nelson Bowers, Chuck Rider and Larry Hedrick.
A knee injury cut short a promising baseball career. Cope played catcher at Whitman College.

Your Turn

Letters From Our Readers

Dear NASCAR This Week,
I would like to know why, in the payoff at Charlotte on Oct. 10, the second-place driver got more money than the first-place driver. First place, Jeff Gordon, earned $140,350. Second place, Bobby Labonte, earned $157,250.

Ted Walsh
Torrington, Conn.
Labonte's bonus for winning the pole was included in his earnings, thus pushing them to more than the winner.

Dear NASCAR This Week,
Did Bobby Labonte ever drive a Monte Carlo?
Janet Stroup
Melrose, Ohio
Joe Gibbs Racing switched from Chevrolets to Pontiacs in 1997. Prior to 1997, Labonte drove Chevrolet Monte Carlos during his tenure with the former Washington Redskins football coach.

Dear NASCAR This Week,
Have Chrysler automobiles or Chrysler products ever been banned from participating in NASCAR? My brother says yes, but I disagree.

Bruce French
Greenville, Mich.
Chrysler was never formally banned by NASCAR, but the company did gradually reduce its participation beginning in the early 1970s. Richard Petty switched from Dodge to Chevrolet in the summer of 1978. The last Chrysler (Dodge) victory was by Neil Bonnett at the second Richmond race in 1977. Maurice Randall was the last driver to participate in a Winston Cup race in a Chrysler product, running Michigan on June 16, 1985.

Dear NASCAR This Week,
NASCAR had poor judgment at Martinsville when they had to let the ambulance in and out of the track. Those laps shouldn't have counted under the circumstances. This factor determined who would win the race. I feel that Earnhardt would have won this race otherwise.
Paula Rickenbaker

Who's Hot... Who's Not

- HOT: Ward Burton has three straight top-five finishes.
- NOT: Michael Waltrip has been 12th or worse in 15 straight races.

Trailer damaged in early morning crash

Cottage Hills man charged with DUI for hitting mobile home with van

By Linda N. Weller
 Staff writer

For Carol Graves - and her sister, son, daughter and grandson - awakening early Sunday morning to the thunderous roll from a van crashing into their trailer in Storeyland mobile home park in Alton was terrifying. The bed on which Graves, 51, was sleeping slammed into a dresser at its foot and trapped her feet between the two pieces of furniture. Graves' headboard tumbled on top of her; pictures and knickknacks dropped to the floor. A hallway cabinet slid in front of her bedroom door, trapping her in her room.

"When it first happened, I was hysterical. I didn't know what was going on," she said. "I could hear something under my trailer. I could hear glass breaking, and I could hear my sister screaming for me."

Overnight, everything was taken out from under me," Graves suffered neck and head bruises and said she still is shocked by the crash. "On top of my injuries, I am sore; it hurt my emotions almost as badly as my injuries," she said. "It is a frightening thing when you are sound asleep."

About 5:30 a.m. Sunday, a van left Storey Lane and first hit an adjacent mobile home in the 100 block of Tara Court. The vehicle then reportedly ran into an electrical box and into the northeast corner of Graves' trailer, next to her bedroom. The driver of the white van then drove off, leaving a black greasy trail behind. Between the grease and residents' descriptions of the vehicle, police traced the van to a house in Cottage Hills.

 Alton resident

Alton police charged the driver, Paul D. Hart, 18, of the 1400 block of 8th Street in Cottage Hills, with driving under the influence, improper lane usage, leaving the scene of an accident, operating an uninsured motor vehicle and driving too fast for conditions. Police reports said when officers arrested Hart at 7:50 a.m., he smelled of alcohol and registered a blood-alcohol content of 0.102 percent.

Two days later, the Graves family awaited word about what their insurance company would reimburse because Hart's van was not insured. Carol Graves, who suffers from the effects of diabetes, is disabled.

"I don't know how they are going to live; she's been paying for this for six years," he said about his mother, brother, sister and 2-year-old nephew who live in the trailer.

"I hope she gets enough money to buy another trailer. There is no way she will be able to sleep in this again," he said. His mother paid $10,500 for the 1982 mobile home and had one year left to pay off, he said.

The family has established a trust fund for Carol Graves at Laclede Credit Union, 3401 E. Broadway in Alton.

Outside, the mobile home's corner and skirting is damaged, and the home partly slipped off some cinder blocks underneath. Tim Graves of Alton said he had driven to his mother's home from work about 3:30 a.m. and had dozed off on a couch until he heard the crash. He ran outside to see the van racing away. A television set had fallen on his 29-year-old brother, Prester, injuring his shoulder, and his aunt, Mary Ashley, sprained her arm from being tossed about during the impact. His nephew, Traven Lewis, woke up screaming but unharmed.

Next door, resident Tim McCarvey Sr., 25, said he "heard a rumble, and the whole house shook." His daughter, 3, and son, 2, awoke crying. McCarvey said he quickly put on his shoes, wrapped blankets on his children, put them in his car and tried to write down the escaping van's license plate number.

"It was a bad alarm clock," he said. No one was injured in that home.

Christie Huck, 21, McCarvey's girlfriend and mother of his children, was at work during the crash. She said the couple does not know the extent of the damage to the doublewide mobile home they began "renting to own" in July. There is damage to the exterior siding and skirting, and the walls are crooked," she said.

HAPPY HALLOWEEN

QUICK AND EASY COSTUMES

It's just a few days before Halloween and you haven't gotten a costume for little Billy or Susie yet.

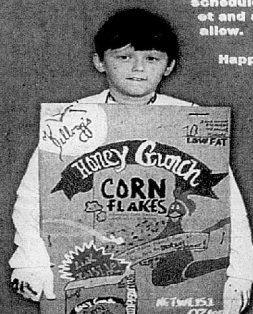

Or perhaps there's a Halloween bash you're planning to attend on Saturday night but you just haven't had time to shop for or make a wearable creation. Never fear.

All you really need are a few household basics, a few hours and a little imagination. In fact, we came up with a dozen last-minute costume ideas from three common items most people have laying around their homes: a sheet, a cardboard box or an old suit.

Following are four costume ideas for each using one of the three items as a basic element. These can be as simple - or as elaborate - as your schedule, budget and ability allow.

Happy haunting!

A bed sheet

A simple white bed sheet can easily become a clever costume with a little imagination and a few twists, swirls and tears.

A top is probably the easiest. Begin by holding the sheet on the short side, and then dropping one corner. Drape the corner you are holding over the left shoulder.

Take the back edge of the material that hangs down across the front, and draw that edge across the body, under the right arm, around the back, and under the left arm. There should still be enough material to wrap around the front once again. Then attach the end of the material to the previous layer with a safety pin.

For a touch of authenticity, add a laurel wreath of tiny twigs and leaves around the head, and wear sandals.

A ghost is almost as easy. Start by draping a sheet over the head and marking where the eyes should be. Then have the wearer hold his arms straight out to the side, and mark where the "sleeves" should be.

Remove the sheet, and cut out egg-shaped holes for the eyes. (This allows for a better field of vision for the wearer.) Next, fold the sheet over to make the front and back of the sheet, a make wide sleeves at the marked point by pinning or stitching the two layers of the cloth eight to 12 inches from the end of the material.

Complete

the costume by drawing or painting a black circle for the mouth. While wearing the costume, loosely tie a white ribbon around the neck to secure the costume.

For the mummy, simply tear or cut a sheet into long strips. Wear a white sweatshirt or tee shirt and pants. Wrap strips of the cloth around the person, making sure not to be too neat and leaving several loose ends dangling. There should be knots in various places around the body. Be careful wrapping the head to leave a clear line of vision.

A Swami costume consists of two basic parts, a turban and bloomers. Cut a section of the sheet in a wide strip, and wrap the strip in loose bunches around the head to make the turban. Pin the end of the strip in front using a brooch or decorative jewelry pin.

The remaining piece of the sheet can be used to make bloomers or the baggie, short-legged pants of the Arabian sultan. Bunch the cloth loosely and wrap it around the waist, pinning it in the middle of the back. Drape the remaining material between the legs and tuck it into the front at the waist. Finally, draw the sides of the material down the sides of the legs.

The costume can be augmented with a colorful scarf tied around the waist, and more bangles and beebies.

The Box

With a simple cardboard box, the ideas can be endless for last minute Halloween costumes. Five students from Renee Taake's Art Classes at Collinsville High School demonstrated their talents when they were given four costume ideas with a cardboard box. The main ingredient is cardboard or several boxes that may be taking up space in a closet or basement and a lot of imagination.

Senior Tait Morrisette put her thinking cap on, well, her aluminum foil antennae that is, when she designed her television costume. With simple items from her home, Tait used a magazine advertisement, a soda can and bowl of popcorn to set off the idea. She also used a few markers and colored pencils to draw the knobs for the television.

Freshman James Hayes created his Halloween costume as a life-size Honey Crunch Cornflakes cereal box with a lot of paint, few markers and colored pencils. Hayes created a similar reproduction of the Kellogg's cereal box, all you need is a cereal box that you can reproduce.

Freshman Clare Wallace and Sophomore Abby Casillas used a local theme for their Halloween costume. This Collinsville Herald newspaper stand may grab you back if you want a paper. Some paint and a Collinsville Herald gave these girls a quick costume.

Freshman Angela Carroll created her robot from many boxes lying around her house. Z-Y2K 2000, the big brother to R2 D2, was created from large and small cardboard boxes and some paint to touch up the panel of flashing lights that every robot is equipped with these days.

The Old Suit

Whether the suit belonged to Dad, Grandpa, Uncle Joe or was a $2.99 special at the Salvation Army store, a discarded suit can be transformed into a number of costumes for a child or an adult. Here are four ideas.

>The Hobo: For a dark-colored suit, black or blue, this is a perfect use. If it is a pin-striped suit, that's even better. Add a violin case (to create the effect of a gun without actually using one) and a hat, cocked at a sinister angle.

Put a flower in the lapel or a neatly-folded hanky in the breast pocket to complete the look of a dapper Don.

>The Hobo: For this costume, neither the color nor the condition matter. But, if the suit isn't in the best of shape, so much the better!

For a child, an adult's suit adds an extra disheveled element to the outfit with rolled up sleeves and turned up pantlegs. A worn hat and scuffed shoes round out the costume. For an added effect, use dark make-up to create a shadowy, unshaven look.

>The Clown: This costume is only a little different from the hobo.

Odd-colored patches, a silly tie and big shoes are the extent of needed accessories. A little make-up and a red nose if you like, make the outfit complete.

>The Vampire: If the suit is in good shape, a starched white shirt, and a red breast ribbon with a fancy gold medallion are the most central elements. A black tie (thin or even a bow tie) can easily substitute if you can't pull the ribboned medallion off.

Count Dracula was quite fashion conscious, so shiny black shoes and a fancy cape (available at most discount stores for a few bucks) are nice accents. Falsely make-up, a widow's peak if you can manage your hairline that well, and a set of diastore blood-sucking teeth and you've created a monster, and a handsome one at that!

Attorneys apply for judgeships

Seventeen area lawyers are competing for single opening

By Dennis Grubaugh
Staff writer

Seventeen attorneys have thrown their hats in the ring for the next available associate judgeship in the 3rd Judicial Circuit. They have applied for a position that will come open at year's end with the retirement of Wendell Durr of Edwardsville.

The winning candidate must get the vote of at least five of the nine circuit judges, otherwise a runoff election is necessary.

The candidates are:

- * Mary Margaret Albert-Fritz of Godfrey, a sole practitioner in Brighton.
- * Larry Alan Calvo, a lawyer and resident of Granite City.
- * Thomas William Chapman, a lawyer and resident of Granite City.
- * John Philip Geismann, who lives and works in Highland.
- * Allen Fletcher Gilliard Jr., of Madison, an attorney in Edwardsville.
- * Susan F. Grammer, of Edwardsville, an attorney in East Alton.
- * Rand S. Hale, a lawyer in East Alton.
- * John Craig Haynes, of Glen Carbon, a lawyer in Edwardsville.
- * David Alan Hylla, of Granite City, a lawyer in East Alton.
- * Mary Lloyd Lowe, who lives and works in Springfield.
- * Amy Maher, of Troy, an assistant for Madison County state's attorney.
- * Douglas Marti, an attorney and resident of Greenville.
- * Ralph J. Mendelsohn, of Glen Carbon, an assistant public defender and private practice attorney in Godfrey.
- * Douglas B. McKeehan, of St. Louis, a sole practitioner in Granite City.
- * Rodney J. Pitts, of Alton, who has a practice in Wood River.
- * Edwin Lee Potter, an attorney and resident of Highland.
- * Greg E. Roosevelt, of Glen Carbon, an attorney in Edwardsville.

Some of the applicants, like Albert-Fritz, are first-time challengers. Others, including Grammer, Hale, Maher, Mendelsohn and Pitts, have run several times. Chapman, the son of 5th District Appellate Judge Charles Chapman, was viewed by courthouse observers as a strong candidate during the early balloting to fill the spot vacated by Associate Judge Michael Meenan. The job instead went to Clarence Harrison II of Collinsville.

Ballots should be received this week from the Illinois Administrative Office of the Courts, a division of the State Supreme Court, according to a spokeswoman for Chief Judge Andy Matteson. Once they are received, the ballots must be filled out and returned within 14 days.

The results should be known in November.

Organization helps HIV and AIDS patients take care of their pets

By Jennifer Saxton
Staff writer

Gary Day of Caseyville recognized that some Metro East residents need a little extra help caring for their pets. So, he is rallying to get Metro East residents involved in the Pets Are Wonderful Support organization.

PAWS is a not-for-profit organization, which began in San Diego over 10 years ago to help HIV and AIDS patients take care of their pets.

The PAWS chapter in St. Louis was unable to offer help to patients in the Metro East. But after going through the proper channels with the state, Day was granted the opportunity to start a licensed chapter for the Metro East.

Day also serves as the chairman for the Metro East Aids Task Force. For awhile, Day and a few friends were helping patients on their own by bringing the pets food, paying veterinarian bills and providing pet sitters for them.

Day said the bills started getting to be too much for them.

"My visa could only go so far," Day said.

They were taking care of over 22 people's pets in the area. He said the pets had to be household pets, but he has taken care of a horse and a lizard.

After a couple of months in operation, PAWS ME has a few volunteers. But it needs many more people to help the organization and more donations. All donations are used for pets that need help.

The Metro East Aids Task Force reaches out to five counties, Madison, St. Clair, Bond, Randolph and Clinton and may eventually go as far as Springfield. But in the five-county region, there are approximately 500 HIV or AIDS patients.

"I saw the need to take care of a lot of these pets and how their owners couldn't afford it with the additional cost of their meds."

Gary Day
PAWS organizer

Day said when he found out the monthly cost of some medicine AIDS patients needed, some averaging $1,200 to $2,000 a month, he wanted to try to make it easier on them somehow.

"I saw the need to take care of a lot of these pets and how their owners couldn't afford it with the additional cost of their meds," Day said.

PAWS volunteers will take care of up to two pets in each house. For more information about the PAWS program or to make a donation, contact Day at 345-7827.

The 2000 Suzuki Grand Vitara is powered by a 2.5-liter V-6 engine. The Grand Vitara is available in either two-wheel drive or four-wheel drive, and a five-speed manual or four-speed automatic transmission.

Ferrari 550, Honda Insight: fuel economy extremes

By Rick Stoff

If money and fuel economy are not major concerns, the Ferrari 550 Maranello is just the car for you. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency fuel economy ratings for the 2000 model year are out, and they list just one car that delivers fewer than 10 miles per gallon in city driving - the Ferrari 550, which is listed at eight miles per gallon in city driving and 13 mpg on the highway. The Ferrari's 5.5-liter engine and six-speed manual transmission are, of course, tuned for speed rather than efficiency. Its EPA mileage ratings are even lower than those for all the pickup trucks, passenger vans, minivans and sport-utility vehicles offered for the 2000 model year.

What will be the cost of fuel in 2000? According to the American Automobile Association, a gallon of unleaded regular gasoline cost just under $1.23 in the Midwest in September, and prices had been rising for months. If that Ferrari 550 logs 15,000 highway miles next year, it will consume nearly 1,154 gallons of gasoline at a cost of $1,419. At the other extreme, the mileage champion on the EPA's 2000 list is the Honda Insight, a hybrid car with an electric motor and a tiny, three-cylinder, one-liter gasoline engine. The Insight is rated at 61 mpg in city driving and 70 mpg on the highway. Based on those numbers, the Insight would use just 214 gallons of fuel to drive those 15,000 miles next year at a total gasoline cost of $264.

Ferrari has the distinction of holding down the top three spots on EPA's guzzler list for 2000. The second and third spots on the low end of the fuel efficiency scale go to the Ferrari 456. With the manual transmission this car is listed at 10 mpg city and 15 mpg highway. With an automatic, its numbers are 10 mpg city and 16 mpg highway. A number of cars top 30 mpg for 2000, and a few even go past 40 mpg. A Chevrolet Metro with a 1.0-liter engine is rated at 39 city and 46 highway. A 1.6-liter Honda Civic is listed at 35/48. The Mitsubishi Mirage with a 1.5-liter engine is good for 33 mpg city and 40 mpg highway. With its 1.3-liter engine, Suzuki Swift delivers 42 mpg on the highway. The Volkswagen Beetle with a 1.9-liter engine and manual transmission delivers 42 mpg in city driving and 49 mpg on the highway. A couple of Volkswagen's larger cars, the compact-class Golf and Jetta, can go 45 to 49 miles on the highway with the proper equipment. Minicars with one-liter engines, of course, make up a tiny portion of the new cars hitting the road these days. The top 10 vehicles on America's 1999-model-year sales chart included three full-size pickups, one compact pickup, a sport-utility vehicle and a minivan. Americans bought 1.9 million Ford F-150, Chevrolet C/K and Dodge Ram pickups during the model year. These trucks deliver EPA ratings ranging from 12 to 16 mpg in city driving and 16 to 20 mpg on the highway. A typical four-wheel-drive version of the Ford Explorer sport-utility vehicle, one of the industry phenomena of the decade, shows city/highway numbers of 16/20. Only four automobiles cracked the industry's top 10 sellers last year. Toyota Camry was third in overall sales. Its 2000 model delivers 19 to 23 mpg city and 27 to 32 mpg on the highway. Honda Accord, sixth overall in sales, delivers numbers in the 22/29 ballpark. Perennial top-seller Ford Taurus, the largest car in the top 10, is listed at 20/26 for 2000. Honda Civic, which came in ninth, is available in seven drive train configurations that put it around 30 mpg city and 37 mpg highway. What's the difference between driving a sport-utility vehicle and a full-size car for a year? In the case of the Explorer, it would need 750 gallons of gasoline costing $920 to run the theoretical 15,000 highway miles. The Taurus would consume 536 gallons at a cost of $659. The difference: 214 gallons and about $264. The Toyota Camry would need $615 to buy about 500 gallons of unleaded to drive 15,000 miles next year. That's 250 fewer gallons and $307 fewer dollars than the Explorer would cost. If all the 139,250 U.S. consumers who bought Explorers last year would have purchased Honda Accord instead, the choices would lower America's annual gasoline consumption by 235.4 million gallons.

How well do you know your Rams?

By Kevin Carbery
Correspondent

Quick - name five players on the current roster of the St. Louis Rams.

It's not so easy, is it? Sure, you probably have heard of Kurt Warner and Isaac Bruce. Those who pay attention to football may know of Kevin Carter and Marshall Faulk. A few others possibly could come up with Orlando Pace.

I don't blame sports fans for being unfamiliar with the local professional grid team. Until this season, there has been little reason to pay attention to the Rams. They have been oh-so-bad since moving to this neck of the woods and were not any better in the seasons immediately before they left Los Angeles.

The first part of this season has been a different story, however. Who could have known that Bruce, Az-zahir Hakim and Torry Holt would become the best set of wide receivers in the league? If you did, I assume you are now a wealthy person or are expecting to be at the end of the season, when your bet on the team in Vegas finally pays off.

Thanks to this talented group of receivers, Warner has been incredible and deserves credit. There have been plenty of quarterbacks - starters as well as backups - who have found ways to sink their teams no matter how much talent surrounded them.

The fear of many sports fans I know is that they will finally give in and start rooting for the St. Louis National Football League team, then the bottom will fall out. What can I tell you? It could happen.

But until it does, I am going to watch this exciting squad beat the brains out of opposing defenses. Say what you will about some of the lousy teams the Rams have defeated, but, when they thumped the 49ers 42-20, it was a great day for St. Louis sports fans.

'Bats' wreaks havoc

Horror flick might almost be too funny to be scary

Why is it that whenever genetically altered bats wreak havoc, it's always in a sleepy Texas town?

The fictitious Gallup, Texas, is the unfortunate setting for "Bats," a movie that's too unintentionally funny to be scary.

Lou Diamond Phillips plays Sheriff Emmett Kimsey. He's supposed to be a cigar-chomping good ol' boy, but his fake twang falls apart on him.

Emmett and Dr. Sheila Casper (Dina Meyer) — a wildlife zoologist who happens to be a strikingly beautiful blonde — try to rid Gallup of these furious flying creatures, which are the work of a mad scientist (who else?). An expert on bats, Sheila is called in to investigate so she can say things like, "Bats do not kill people. Period."

Her assistant, Jimmy (Leon), is petrified of bats so it's only natural he would choose to work with them as a career. Sadly, Jimmy, who happens to be black, is the worst of Hollywood stereotypes. He's supposed to provide comic relief, but his lines aren't funny. "I like 'em, but at a distance," Jimmy says of bats. "Like on 'Wild Kingdom.' "Ha."

'Bats' wreaks havoc

The mad scientist, Dr. Alexander McCabe (Bob Gunton), ambles around town with a crazed look in his eyes, wearing a wool blazer, a sweater vest and a long-sleeved shirt in the middle of a Texas heat wave. When Sheila frantically asks him why he created killer bats, the camera slowly zooms in on his sweaty face as he utters, "Because I'm a scientist. That's what we do." It's like something out of a "Saturday Night Live" skit.

Of course, Gallupites are skeptical at first that killer bats are among them. They ignore Emmett's evacuation order and go about their small town business. But we all know what's coming ... BATS! Soon these quintessentially

How well do you know your St. Louis Rams football team?

For this week's trivia quiz, the topic is the Rams. Believe me, I never expected to be interested in them this far into the season, but I am.

1. Who is the heaviest guy on the Rams roster? Hint: It's not Orlando Pace.

2. What number does quarterback Kurt Warner wear?

3. Guard Adam Timmerman played college ball for what school?

4. Who was head coach of the Rams immediately before Dick Vermeil took over the job?

5. Vermeil was a football analyst for which television network at the time he became the Rams' coach?

6. Who is the placekicker for the team?

7. What does Mike Martz do for the Rams?

8. Which former NFL great is the team's running backs coach?

9. Ram London Fletcher plays what position?

10. Cornerback Todd Lyght played for which college team?

ANSWERS: 1. Tackle Willie Jones, who weighs 372 pounds.

Pace is listed at 334. You probably wouldn't want to invited either of them at your all-you-can-eat buffet restaurant.

2. Lucky No. 13. Man, did this guy come out of nowhere and turn out to be a great catch for St. Louis?

3. South Dakota State University. If you knew this, you are even more of a sports nerd than I am.

4. Rick Brooks. Remember him?

5. ABC. He used to call college games with Brent Musburger.

6. Jeff Wilkins.

7. He is the team's offensive coordinator.

8. Wilbert Montgomery. 9. Middle linebacker. 10. Notre Dame.

Kevin Carbery is affiliated with "The Entertainment and Trivia Show," which airs Sunday nights on KMOX Radio (1120 AM).

'Bats' wreaks movie havoc

folksy folks are scurrying through the streets, shrieking and seeking shelter, in a scene that's clearly a rip-off of "The Birds."

Naturally, the bats pick apart everyone in sight but they manage to avoid hurting our heroes. And after not having showered for days and surviving multiple bat attacks, Sheila still looks sexy and fashionable in cargo pants and a tight tank top.

As a pack, in their flapping frenzy, the bats are obviously fake but kind of cool-looking. Up close, however, they look like pug dogs with wings. One of them is almost cute as it creeps along a lunch counter toward an unsuspecting truck driver. Then the bat throws the man on the counter and has him for lunch.

"Bats" offers lots of obligatory gross-outs. Emmett and Sheila infiltrate the creatures' cave and fall into a giant, gloopy river of bat dung. A young couple kissing in a car gets ripped to shreds and then tossed through a windshield. But director Louis Mornéau's pacing is too fast to make these scenes suspenseful.

There is one decently executed scene early on, however. Emmett and Sheila drive around in his patrol truck looking for the bats. They find them — thousands of them — that stick to his sport utility vehicle like refrigerator magnets and eventually poke their way in through the engine and the air conditioning vents. The scene is a gory, guilty pleasure; the remainder of the movie isn't even campy in a good way.

In the midst of the carnage, the camera lingers way too long on a movie theater marquee that's too clichéd to be clever: "NOW PLAYING — NOSFERATU." It's unlikely Gallup would even have a theater — and if it did, you hope it wouldn't show "Bats."

"Bats," a Destination Films release, is rated R for language, violence and gore. It was written by John Logan. Running time: 90 minutes.

Letterman wins Emmy

It didn't make the headlines -- David Letterman seldom does these days -- but the Emmy that the "Late Show" won last month was welcome confirmation that some people whose opinions matter are still watching.

"The nice thing," joked "Late Show" executive producer Rob Burnett, "is that CBS comes around with a big barrel of cash and everyone takes what they want. It's sweet. Very, very sweet."

In fresh comedy and awards, Letterman is still competitive with his late-night rival, NBC's Jay Leno. Among viewers, though, it's been no contest.

Letterman beat Leno in the ratings for a while after NBC chose Leno in 1993 as Johnny Carson's successor on the "Tonight Show." But Leno soon eclipsed him and his lead steadily widened.

Letterman's average nightly audience of 3.6 million people this year is less than half what it was just five years ago -- an eye-popping decline even in an era where networks expect diminishing viewer-ship.

Lately, there are signs that Letterman's slide may have bottomed out.

These are not easy numbers to watch if you're Burnett, who started as an intern in 1985 and worked his way up to executive producer by 1996. (Presumably they're not easy for Letterman, either, but he's not talking).

Burnett will never see the ratings as proof that Leno puts on a better show, though maybe it's pleasing to more people. Jay's blander style of comedy may simply play better than Dave's sarcasm at a time many people would rather be touched by an angel than by someone mean.

"Dave continues to do innovative and interesting television that for many people is their cup of tea," said Warren Littlefield, NBC's top entertainment executive when Carson retired. "I bet on Jay because I believed he ultimately would be embraced by a larger number of people and that he would be the partner who would never quit until he was on top.

"I feel very good about where I placed my bet."

A close look at the numbers reveals that Letterman has lost most of his audience not to Leno, but to "Seinfeld," "Frasier" and "Friends."

Many independent stations that never used to compete aggressively late at night are now airing reruns of the popular sitcoms. In dozens of markets, Letterman is being whipped by these reruns, chief CBS researcher David Poltrack said. (Leno's ratings rose through 1997, but have fallen back to the level they were five years ago.)

Bashing CBS sounds like a combination of sour grapes and disloyalty, but Burnett believes the network handicaps Letterman.

During the past few years, CBS hasn't had a strong lineup of 10 p.m. shows. That, combined with weak 11 p.m. local news in many markets, means fewer people are watching CBS leading up to Letterman's show, and more are watching NBC. The average CBS audience is also older, and less likely to appreciate Letterman's comedy.

"It really is like giving someone a 60-yard head start in a 100-yard dash," he said.

Burnett chooses his words carefully when asked if Letterman's team regretted the move to CBS.

"We clearly don't fit in with CBS," he said. "The audience that CBS is programming to is a completely different audience than we program to. I believe if Dave had gotten the 'Tonight Show' on NBC, then we would have no competition in late night. I don't think Jay would have been able to survive at CBS."

There are positive signs, though. CBS is getting stronger at 10 p.m. During the first three weeks of this fall's season, Letterman's ratings are up 7 percent over last year, and Leno's are down 6 percent. Appearances by Dan Quayle, Jesse Ventura and, in a memorable rerun, Farrah Fawcett, have proven Letterman can attract attention.

For a man who often seemed bored early in his career when someone sat next to his desk, Letterman's interviewing skills have improved so markedly that it is now one of his strengths.

As he has aged, Letterman's interests have changed and the show has changed with him.

"In the beginning, Dave was this 35-year-old, wisecracking guy putting a Velcro suit on and jumping onto the wall," Burnett said. Now, at 52, "he's this sort of elegant commentator on politics and all manners of silliness."

Letterman's Emmy-winning entry featured a frequent foil, Steve Martin, and their brilliant taped piece, "Dave and Steve's Gay Vacation."

It also included a comedy sketch about Letterman's "retirement" party as "Late Show" host, where Dave and fellow staff members share beers at a bar — a premise made funny in itself by his distant, cranky persona.

Letterman leaves the bar and walks away but his stage-hand, Biff Henderson, catches up with him.

"You realize if you quit you're giving up that enormous salary they pay you," Henderson explains.

Oh, yeah. Letterman calls off the "retirement."

Burnett isn't quite sure when the real retirement party will take place. Letterman's "Late Show" contract stretches to August 2002, but there are some points along the way where he has the option to leave.

"I think in the way that Johnny (Carson) took it one year at a time, I can see Dave doing something similar," he said. "I don't have a firm idea of how long Dave wants to do this. It wouldn't surprise me if he decided to keep going. It wouldn't surprise me if he thought he's had enough. I don't think he really knows."

Horoscopes

THURSDAY, OCT. 28

Feminine Venus moves into Neptune-oriented Pisces today, suggesting a more profound instinct to connect with the well of spirituality and with painting, sculpture, music and anything that defines us as a culture. Who are we? What are our stories? Supportive aspects involving Mercury (retrograde), the sun in Aries and the Leo moon call upon spoken-word artists and the most articulate among us to provide the answers.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Oct. 28). Make room for the new, as this is a year of change. You could delay your good fortune by focusing on jealousy, so be open to admiring the success of others. There is a tendency to rush ahead in relationships. Your best signs for love are Sagittarius and Aries. You could marry in summer.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Confusion clouds your real problems. Prominent people are happy to hear from you. Handle complaints yourself, and assume new responsibilities. Children can read your mind.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). There will never be a perfect time to begin new enterprises. Make important appointments with professionals. Stop procrastinating. You succeed in competitive situations.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Put your security first, as others will disregard it. Investment clubs prove lucky. Contributions aren't recognized unless you speak up. Your communication skills are superb.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Cancel meetings if you are not prepared. Relax with friends, this revitalizes your creativity. Couples need to do things independently. Relationships deepen when they are tested.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Old habit patterns must end. Fight the establishment, and you will win. Investigate all financial matters personally. Don't overprotect a child. Love with another Leo is possible.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Accept an assignment, and use it to further your own professional aims. Leading on a cur rent love could backfire. Co-workers take advantage of you unless you act forcefully.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). How you look affects how others treat you. Surface appearances do make a difference. Socialize with business colleagues. You win school elections. Your popularity soars.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). One simple issue is keeping you from finalizing contracts and agreements. Emotional tension must be released. Admit you can't be perfect. Homemakers need time alone.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). A budding romance has marvelous potential. Increase your income by selling products you make yourself. Assumptions about a new love are incorrect. Guilt is unjustified.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Sports, trips and new moves are good. Relocating is good for business. Expand your duties, and promotions and raises follow. In-laws interfere with child rearing. Have patience with them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Close friends are hurt by casual remarks. Keep to a tight schedule. Preliminary discussions are time-consuming but necessary. There are strings attached to a favor, so be extra cautious.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Obstacles are easily overcome when you determine exactly what you want. Unconventional liaisons must be explained to children. Rash decisions cost you money. Do not rush into things.
